Learning As I Grow

This activity will help students identify tasks that they have learned while growing up and those they will master in the future. It is designed to make students aware that there are things they have learned well enough to teach others.

Materials/Supplies

“Learned and Learning” worksheet, poster board, markers

Activity

Have student name tasks that they learn as they grow and make a list.

Record tasks on a large chart.

Discuss and have students fill in the worksheet indicating tasks they have learned to do well and are still learning to do well. .

Examples of tasks that might be listed:

Eat alone
Ride a tricycle/bike
Skip
Write name
Tie shoes
Dress self
Whistle
Read
Talk

Discuss some things you or your students couldn't do when they were one year old; discuss some things you will be able to do in future years, etc.

What can you do now that you could teach someone else?

Evaluation

Students will be evaluated on their list of tasks learned and tasks to be learned.
