Survey - 1 Question (CTE Instructor Support)

We are all aware the events of the last two years have negatively impacted education. The PD Division would like to learn how it has influenced you as a CTE instructor. Therefore, we are asking for your help in responding to this very short survey. Because the purpose is to begin by only establishing baseline data, there is only 1 question. There are a few demographic items which are optional but would be very helpful to obtain to understand if you are being affected differently from your colleagues. Your names and email address will NOT be collected. The survey is completely anonymous.

This information will help both the PD Division as well as us better understand how we can support you.

Trello is a FREE Project Management Tool

Because so many students are in the habit of multitasking, a good skill to teach them is how to organize and streamline their assignments. Trello is a free and super easy-to-use tool students can use to create workflow charts. Multiple students can be added to the same board; great for collaboration on projects.
