

Let's Go to College: Career Discovery (Kindergarten-1st Grade)

Do you know what you want to be when you grow up? It's okay if you don't. In college, you get to learn about lots of different subjects that will help you pick the career you may want to have one day. A big part of exploring different jobs you might want to do when you grow up is learning about your interests and skills and the things you like and dislike. As you discover more about yourself, you can create a roadmap to guide you on your journey to college and your dream job.
